

THE COLEMAN BULLETIN

VOL. III NO. 44

COLEMAN, ALBERTA, MARCH 18, 1915

$1.50 PER YEAR

Council Meeting Was Not Very Exciting

The regular meeting of the council was held in the council chamber on Tuesday evening of this week, all members being present except Aldermen Johnston and Burns.

There was very little business of importance on the program, and the session lasted only about an hour.

Mayor Morrison reported that he had received another cheque from the Provincial Government to assist in relief work, and recommended that the new road to West Coleman be widened at the rock cut. This was agreed to by the aldermen.

A letter was received from the secretary of the band concerning the matter of holding band practice in the council chamber on Friday evenings. St. John's ambulance class desires the use of the room on the same evening and a little mix-up has resulted. A motion passed at the previous meeting of the council granting the latter the use of the council chamber on the night in question was allowed to stand, the aldermen agreeing that if the band felt they had a grievance in the matter, or had any very urgent reason for desiring the use of the room on Friday evenings the council would be glad to give them a hearing at any of their regular meetings. It seems that a committee appointed by the council had en-

JOHN HERRON

Conservative nominee for this riding, who thinks a Dominion election will take place in the near future.

deavored to interview the band but had been unable to connect.

The school board submitted its estimates in revised form as requested by the council. Reductions totalling about three thousand dollars have been made, and the estimated expenditure for the year now stands as follows:

Principal's salary.....	$1200.00
Assistant principal.....	705.00
One teacher at.....	748.00
Three teachers at $750.....	2217.00
One teacher at.....	730.00
Two teachers at $724.....	1448.00
One teacher at.....	234.00
Janitor.....	95.00
Secretary and treasurer.....	125.00
Truant officer.....	30.00
School repairs account.....	100.00

(Continued on page 5)

Eggs

Eggs. One Dollar a setting.

Mrs. George Dick

Near C.P.R. Depot. Coleman, Alta.

GOVERNMENT'S "PATRIOTISM AND PRODUCTION" SCHEME COULD BE MADE OF GREAT ASSISTANCE TO THE COLEMAN SCHOOL DISTRICT

Coleman Has Many Children

The following information regarding the number of children in Coleman was furnished by the former secretary of the school board, and was printed in The Bulletin last May. It will be read with some interest just at the present time. The figures given were secured by the secretary after he had taken a census of the Coleman school district:

4 years and under.....	317
5 years.....	50
6 years.....	65
7 years.....	34
8 years.....	55
9 years.....	40
10 years.....	42
11 years.....	35
12 years.....	44
13 years.....	45
14 years.....	30
15 years.....	20
Total.....	819

The members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Institutional church will meet next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. McLeod.

The Irish social held in the Institutional church on the evening of St. Patrick's Day was a great success. The program was good and there was a large crowd in attendance. The Auxiliary of the church, under whose auspices the social was held, desire to thank all who assisted in the program and otherwise.

If Boundaries of the Forest Reserve Were Moved Back to the Timber Line and the First Class Ranching Land Included Therein—and Other Land Locked up by Antiquated Timber Leases—Thrown Open for Settlement, the Revenue of the Coleman School District Would be Greatly Increased.

While the "Patriotism and Production" campaign and the "Made-in-Canada" idea seems to have properly taken hold of the people of the Dominion, it nevertheless sounds more or less ironical to the people of Coleman when they stroll out on the hill-top to the east, to the west, to the north or to the south, and in all directions gaze upon mile upon mile of the best dairy-farming or ranching country out of doors—when the "Back to the Land" idea strikes them right where they live, and they indulge in dreams of a small ranch of their own where they can produce practically everything they require in the food line and enough in excess of their own needs to buy clothing, etc.—and then when they start out to apply the "Patriotism and Production" and the "Back to the Land" propositions to their own scheme of living, they come bump up against obstacles that have been erected by the Government, and always the same obstacles.

It is utterly ridiculous for Sir George Eulas Foster to preach "Patriotism and Production" to people in this neck of the woods as long as the Government's "Forest Reserve" is permitted to enclose not only the nearby forested land, but the best of good ranching lands as well; nor is there much sense in urging Canadians to get "Back to the Land" as long as the McLaren Lumber Company is permitted to keep us off the land simply because they were given a timber lease twenty years ago.

The Bulletin does not charge these injustices to the present Dominion Government, but it does claim that the Government of the day is the only power that can move the boundaries of the forest reserve back to the timber line, or compel the above named lumber company to relinquish its claim on the land the moment the timber is removed therefrom. And if this was done there would be a real "Back to the Land" movement inaugurated here in The Pass of such proportions as to make it comparatively easy to finance our school district.

And now we have arrived at our objective point:

Bulletin readers by this time know in very fair detail of the difficulty that confronts those who are responsible for the financing of the Coleman school. We may pull the wool over our own eyes to a very great extent and conjure up all sorts of reasons or excuses for the abnormal condition which at present exists here. But, if we look at the matter a little more realistically, we inevitably reach the conclusion

(Continued on page 5)

A Free Suit!

The Drawing takes place Saturday Evening, March 20, at Nine o'clock. Remember—Every Dollar spent, or paid on account, until that time means One Chance of a Twenty-Five Dollar Suit Free.

Specials For Pay Day

MEN'S BLACK CASHMERE SOCKS—Regular price three pair for $1.00—Now 4 pair for $1.00.

MEN'S UNDERWEAR—Some Odd Garments of Wool and Fleece Lined Underwear, values up to $1.00, Saturday Special, 50c. each.

MEN'S NECKTIES—Any of our Neckties, values up to 75 cents—Saturday Special 35c. each.

MEN'S SOFT FELT HATS—Values up to $3.00, on Saturday for $1.50.

MEN'S PANTS—Just arrived, a stock of new Pants—All Prices.

Cecil Gower

Sole Agent for Hobberlin Tailoring

THE MEN'S STORE.

Coleman, Alta.

W. L. OUIMETTE APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

New Prints and Gingham.

(PALATINE PRINTS) They are free from dressing and every piece guaranteed fast colors and full widths. Stripes, spots and floral designs, light and dark grounds, per yard, 15c.

Wash well Gingham in stripes, checks and plaids, guaranteed fast colors, per yard, 15c.

Steel Clad Gaiters in assorted light and dark stripes, just the thing for children's wear, per yard, 20c.

Crape Cloths in assorted stripes, 18 to 20c.

Corsets.

D. and A. Corsets are the best that modern medical science, expert workmanship, skillful and artistic designing can give you. We show the latest models, prices, $1.25 to $3.50.

Ladies New Collars. We have just received a new shipment of the latest styles in ladies' collars, including the low Organdie, high flare and new velvet band collar. These goods are strictly up-to-the-minute and are selling fast, 35c. to $1.00.

Silks.

Having made our purchases early in the season we continue selling Silk at the old price.

We show a good range of Paillettes, 36-inches wide, in Black, Navy, Brown, Reseda, Grey, Belgian Blue and Cream at per yard, $1.25.

$1.25 Blouse Special

We are offering a splendid line of Blouses in Voiles, Lawns and Muslins, with embroidered and plain front, medium and low neck.

Men's Sox.

Men's fine Black Cashmere Sox, sizes 9, 9½, 10, 10½, 11. Special, 3 pairs, $1.00.

Men's Hats.

The newest in English and American shapes. See our number 107, in Brown, Navy or Black, $3.50.

Men's Caps.

The celebrated E. T. Caps, at $1.00 to $1.75. The noblest cap shown in Canada today.

Men's Trousers.

New stock now here, Tweeds and Worsteds, prices, $2.00 to $6.00 per pair.

Boy's Bloomers and Knickers.

LION BRAND—We are showing a range of patterns in these high class goods, with double knees and double seats.

Boots and Shoes.

The "INVICTUS"—the Best Good Shoe.

Men's Black in Blucher or Buttoned, Men's Tan in Blucher, per pair, $6.00.

Ladies' Black in Blucher and Buttoned, per pair, $5.00.

Groceries.

Special in Red Salmon, 3 large tins for 50c.

Special in Canned Fruits.

Strawberries, Raspberries, Lombard Plums, 6 tins for $1.00.

Apples.

Choice Cold Storage Apples, per box, $1.35 to $2.00.

B. C. Potatoes.

Guaranteed sound and good, per sack, $1.05.

Five Roses Flour.

The old reliable flour that never fails to give satisfaction, large sack, $1.40.

Bran, Shorts, Wheat, Wild Rose Butter, New Laid Eggs. Get our prices.

Try our special brand ground Coffee, 4 pounds for $1.00.

The Golden Girl

By Alice and Claude Askew
Ward, Lock & Co., Limited
London, Melbourne and Toronto

(Continued)

CHAPTER XXII
Peter Sabatini of Fifth Street,
Whitechapel

To say that Harold felt himself in a dilemma were to give but feeble expression to that young man's feelings. To repudiate his engagement to Barbara now—how could he? The obvious conclusion would be that he had married this fellow Bernard Pavitch!

He cursed his fate under his breath. How automatically he had done everything had gone! If Babette had been another sort of girl altogether—if she had been in Barbara's place—well, but what was the good of "ifs"? Only he felt how easy it would have been—how fine—almost provident that love had been a factor in the case—to have vowed that fortune and birth were to be a account to him, and to have meant what he said.

But now—well, he was aware that he was cutting a bad figure and his protests did not carry conviction. Yet he could not speak out the truth. For he did not pay much attention to what he said, but quickly dismissed the old lady, his mother, into the shop and then turned to Harold with a proud smile.

"Isn't she wonderful? Turned seventeen and without a wrinkle in her cheeks! Ah, Harold, I've lived—even about her—I've strewn my path with falsehoods—but I've never maintained that I love my mother. And that at least is true."

Harold inclined his head. The truth of the statement was obvious. "And now—before we go any further—tell me about the other woman."

"You ask me about the other woman, taking a chair by the table and muttering Harold to do the same. And so Harold told her the story of what had happened, and ended by explaining why he had decided to open the letter which had been sent to him, and to go in search for Mr. Forde."

"You did right—you did quite right, Harold," decided the latter. "I was angry at first—I wanted to conceal matters from you, but I thought it better that you should know the truth. I will explain. But first let me tell you that Babette spoke of sending for him." Mr. Forde spoke in eager tones.

"Yes," replied Harold. "She did not seem to mind though I told her she was a thief. In her eyes she is a patriot first and all the time. I don't think she loves him really, but she is a strange girl."

"You think he is bound to go, some time today, to that house in Camberwell?"

"Yes," replied Harold. "She did not seem to mind though I told her she was a thief. In her eyes she is a patriot first and all the time. I don't think she loves him really, but she is a strange girl."

"Just so," Mr. Forde rose from his chair. "He was rubbing his hands together thoughtfully. He had been waiting for a few minutes, Harold?"

"With which, and without further explanation, he made his way from the room and from the house. Harold heard a few words exchanged between him and his mother as he passed through the hall, but he did not catch the purport of them. Mr. Forde, however, had certainly gone out into the street."

He was absent about a quarter of an hour. When he returned he was still rubbing his hands together as if with satisfaction.

"I've put the police on the track of that rogue," he said. "Don't think he'll slip through their fingers now."

"On the track of Bernard Pavitch?"

"Yes," replied Harold. "He has sent the police to Camberwell!" Harold looked at him with a smile. "What would Babette think of him now?"

Mr. Forde nodded. "Yes. Perhaps some day Babette may be grateful to both of us. Harold. As I have told you, she is not a very clever girl, but she has learned the truth an hour or so ago. She—or, rather, her mother, for Babette may be unconscious of her own grossly, yet I should be so to see the girl sacrifice herself to save a scoundrel. Babette has been saved from Pavitch and I have saved the only means to save her."

Harold inclined his head and was silent. Whatever Babette's feelings might be Pavitch was certainly no fitting mate for her. Mr. Forde had done well.

"And then," enquired Harold, with more concern in his voice than he was aware of, "what will become of her?"

For, of course, you will not take her back, Mr. Forde. Yet I can assure you that she is practised upon you—she believed her mother's story—I'm sure of that from the way she told it. Of course I see how it was. He said, 'It was easy to put two and two together.'"

"Babette is, as she always believed, the child of my wife and of Paul Mataya," explained Mr. Forde. "In the spring of a bigamous union, she had evidence presented to me which proved, beyond question, that my wife had been married to another man for nearly twenty years, and represented that Babette was my daughter. Born after we had quarrelled and parted. Not one word did Marie—that is my wife—say to me of the marriage which she had contracted with Paul Mataya, and I did not question her as to how she had spent the years. I did not care—I was extending forgiveness to her. Babette must have been warned to be silent, and I knew that she may have mentioned Paul Mataya—she often did, in fact—he by a slip of the tongue she never, by a slip, betrayed her mother. Marie declared that she would never have revealed to me that I had a second child, that pride would have made her silent."

W.N.U. 1093

—had not she and Babette been driven to extremities by poverty. It was for Babette's sake—so she maintained—and yet she lied, fostering another man's child upon her own. She asked the money which I should bestow upon her, believing her my own, as a marriage portion."

He paused. Harold, remembering what Babette herself had said on this subject, offered no defence. "You may say that he married this fellow Bernard Pavitch!" was all he said.

Yes—or anyone. Pavitch was not in the original scheme when Marie and Babette came to England. Of course, when he found out that Babette was the admitted daughter of the wealthy Wyndham Forde he played up the game for all he was worth—she was the daughter of a man for the cause of Armenian freedom, and he played upon the girl's feelings—

—which are genuine enough—but in reality he wanted it for himself. It is a rogue and a villain. I have reason to know it."

Once more Mr. Forde broke off. He had resumed his seat by the table and Harold was sitting opposite him. Now and again the sound of voices came from the shop, where a brisk trade seemed to be prosecuted.

It did not seem to Harold as if he really believed that Babette was his daughter. Mr. Forde resumed, "had it not been for my wife's confession, which you are acquainted. A fortune-teller once told me that I should have two daughters, one of whom was this. This was years ago, when Barbara was a tiny child, and of course Marie was not yet married. I was disappointed by the revelation to cheat me as she did. She knew that I was not likely to have children, and she was terribly troubled about it at the time—for Barbara's sake. It had been said, you see, that she would lose both her daughters. When your father, Harold, saved Barbara's life I thought that I could have averted and my gratitude towards her grew greater than I could ever express. Only a sudden change of business took me away from Fleet Street, and I never saw her again. I felt that my debt had never been paid—till you came upon the scene."

"You have been kinder to me than I deserve," put in Harold impulsively, and his tone might have betrayed him had not his companion been busy with his own thoughts.

"You ask me about the other woman, taking a chair by the table and muttering Harold to do the same. And so Harold told her the story of what had happened, and ended by explaining why he had decided to open the letter which had been sent to him, and to go in search for Mr. Forde."

"You did right—you did quite right, Harold," decided the latter. "I was angry at first—I wanted to conceal matters from you, but I thought it better that you should know the truth. I will explain. But first let me tell you that Babette spoke of sending for him." Mr. Forde spoke in eager tones.

"Yes," replied Harold. "She did not seem to mind though I told her she was a thief. In her eyes she is a patriot first and all the time. I don't think she loves him really, but she is a strange girl."

"You think he is bound to go, some time today, to that house in Camberwell?"

"Yes," replied Harold. "She did not seem to mind though I told her she was a thief. In her eyes she is a patriot first and all the time. I don't think she loves him really, but she is a strange girl."

"Just so," Mr. Forde rose from his chair. "He was rubbing his hands together thoughtfully. He had been waiting for a few minutes, Harold?"

"With which, and without further explanation, he made his way from the room and from the house. Harold heard a few words exchanged between him and his mother as he passed through the hall, but he did not catch the purport of them. Mr. Forde, however, had certainly gone out into the street."

He was absent about a quarter of an hour. When he returned he was still rubbing his hands together as if with satisfaction.

"I've put the police on the track of that rogue," he said. "Don't think he'll slip through their fingers now."

"On the track of Bernard Pavitch?"

"Yes," replied Harold. "He has sent the police to Camberwell!" Harold looked at him with a smile. "What would Babette think of him now?"

Mr. Forde nodded. "Yes. Perhaps some day Babette may be grateful to both of us. Harold. As I have told you, she is not a very clever girl, but she has learned the truth an hour or so ago. She—or, rather, her mother, for Babette may be unconscious of her own grossly, yet I should be so to see the girl sacrifice herself to save a scoundrel. Babette has been saved from Pavitch and I have saved the only means to save her."

Harold inclined his head and was silent. Whatever Babette's feelings might be Pavitch was certainly no fitting mate for her. Mr. Forde had done well.

"And then," enquired Harold, with more concern in his voice than he was aware of, "what will become of her?"

For, of course, you will not take her back, Mr. Forde. Yet I can assure you that she is practised upon you—she believed her mother's story—I'm sure of that from the way she told it. Of course I see how it was. He said, 'It was easy to put two and two together.'"

"Babette is, as she always believed, the child of my wife and of Paul Mataya," explained Mr. Forde. "In the spring of a bigamous union, she had evidence presented to me which proved, beyond question, that my wife had been married to another man for nearly twenty years, and represented that Babette was my daughter. Born after we had quarrelled and parted. Not one word did Marie—that is my wife—say to me of the marriage which she had contracted with Paul Mataya, and I did not question her as to how she had spent the years. I did not care—I was extending forgiveness to her. Babette must have been warned to be silent, and I knew that she may have mentioned Paul Mataya—she often did, in fact—he by a slip of the tongue she never, by a slip, betrayed her mother. Marie declared that she would never have revealed to me that I had a second child, that pride would have made her silent."

—had not she and Babette been driven to extremities by poverty. It was for Babette's sake—so she maintained—and yet she lied, fostering another man's child upon her own. She asked the money which I should bestow upon her, believing her my own, as a marriage portion."

He paused. Harold, remembering what Babette herself had said on this subject, offered no defence. "You may say that he married this fellow Bernard Pavitch!" was all he said.

Yes—or anyone. Pavitch was not in the original scheme when Marie and Babette came to England. Of course, when he found out that Babette was the admitted daughter of the wealthy Wyndham Forde he played up the game for all he was worth—she was the daughter of a man for the cause of Armenian freedom, and he played upon the girl's feelings—

—which are genuine enough—but in reality he wanted it for himself. It is a rogue and a villain. I have reason to know it."

THE BULLETIN, COLEMAN, ALBERTA

—had not she and Babette been driven to extremities by poverty. It was for Babette's sake—so she maintained—and yet she lied, fostering another man's child upon her own. She asked the money which I should bestow upon her, believing her my own, as a marriage portion."

He paused. Harold, remembering what Babette herself had said on this subject, offered no defence. "You may say that he married this fellow Bernard Pavitch!" was all he said.

Yes—or anyone. Pavitch was not in the original scheme when Marie and Babette came to England. Of course, when he found out that Babette was the admitted daughter of the wealthy Wyndham Forde he played up the game for all he was worth—she was the daughter of a man for the cause of Armenian freedom, and he played upon the girl's feelings—

—which are genuine enough—but in reality he wanted it for himself. It is a rogue and a villain. I have reason to know it."

Once more Mr. Forde broke off. He had resumed his seat by the table and Harold was sitting opposite him. Now and again the sound of voices came from the shop, where a brisk trade seemed to be prosecuted.

It did not seem to Harold as if he really believed that Babette was his daughter. Mr. Forde resumed, "had it not been for my wife's confession, which you are acquainted. A fortune-teller once told me that I should have two daughters, one of whom was this. This was years ago, when Barbara was a tiny child, and of course Marie was not yet married. I was disappointed by the revelation to cheat me as she did. She knew that I was not likely to have children, and she was terribly troubled about it at the time—for Barbara's sake. It had been said, you see, that she would lose both her daughters. When your father, Harold, saved Barbara's life I thought that I could have averted and my gratitude towards her grew greater than I could ever express. Only a sudden change of business took me away from Fleet Street, and I never saw her again. I felt that my debt had never been paid—till you came upon the scene."

"You have been kinder to me than I deserve," put in Harold impulsively, and his tone might have betrayed him had not his companion been busy with his own thoughts.

"You ask me about the other woman, taking a chair by the table and muttering Harold to do the same. And so Harold told her the story of what had happened, and ended by explaining why he had decided to open the letter which had been sent to him, and to go in search for Mr. Forde."

"You did right—you did quite right, Harold," decided the latter. "I was angry at first—I wanted to conceal matters from you, but I thought it better that you should know the truth. I will explain. But first let me tell you that Babette spoke of sending for him." Mr. Forde spoke in eager tones.

"Yes," replied Harold. "She did not seem to mind though I told her she was a thief. In her eyes she is a patriot first and all the time. I don't think she loves him really, but she is a strange girl."

"You think he is bound to go, some time today, to that house in Camberwell?"

"Yes," replied Harold. "She did not seem to mind though I told her she was a thief. In her eyes she is a patriot first and all the time. I don't think she loves him really, but she is a strange girl."

"Just so," Mr. Forde rose from his chair. "He was rubbing his hands together thoughtfully. He had been waiting for a few minutes, Harold?"

"With which, and without further explanation, he made his way from the room and from the house. Harold heard a few words exchanged between him and his mother as he passed through the hall, but he did not catch the purport of them. Mr. Forde, however, had certainly gone out into the street."

He was absent about a quarter of an hour. When he returned he was still rubbing his hands together as if with satisfaction.

"I've put the police on the track of that rogue," he said. "Don't think he'll slip through their fingers now."

"On the track of Bernard Pavitch?"

"Yes," replied Harold. "He has sent the police to Camberwell!" Harold looked at him with a smile. "What would Babette think of him now?"

Mr. Forde nodded. "Yes. Perhaps some day Babette may be grateful to both of us. Harold. As I have told you, she is not a very clever girl, but she has learned the truth an hour or so ago. She—or, rather, her mother, for Babette may be unconscious of her own grossly, yet I should be so to see the girl sacrifice herself to save a scoundrel. Babette has been saved from Pavitch and I have saved the only means to save her."

Harold inclined his head and was silent. Whatever Babette's feelings might be Pavitch was certainly no fitting mate for her. Mr. Forde had done well.

"And then," enquired Harold, with more concern in his voice than he was aware of, "what will become of her?"

For, of course, you will not take her back, Mr. Forde. Yet I can assure you that she is practised upon you—she believed her mother's story—I'm sure of that from the way she told it. Of course I see how it was. He said, 'It was easy to put two and two together.'"

"Babette is, as she always believed, the child of my wife and of Paul Mataya," explained Mr. Forde. "In the spring of a bigamous union, she had evidence presented to me which proved, beyond question, that my wife had been married to another man for nearly twenty years, and represented that Babette was my daughter. Born after we had quarrelled and parted. Not one word did Marie—that is my wife—say to me of the marriage which she had contracted with Paul Mataya, and I did not question her as to how she had spent the years. I did not care—I was extending forgiveness to her. Babette must have been warned to be silent, and I knew that she may have mentioned Paul Mataya—she often did, in fact—he by a slip of the tongue she never, by a slip, betrayed her mother. Marie declared that she would never have revealed to me that I had a second child, that pride would have made her silent."

—had not she and Babette been driven to extremities by poverty. It was for Babette's sake—so she maintained—and yet she lied, fostering another man's child upon her own. She asked the money which I should bestow upon her, believing her my own, as a marriage portion."

He paused. Harold, remembering what Babette herself had said on this subject, offered no defence. "You may say that he married this fellow Bernard Pavitch!" was all he said.

Yes—or anyone. Pavitch was not in the original scheme when Marie and Babette came to England. Of course, when he found out that Babette was the admitted daughter of the wealthy Wyndham Forde he played up the game for all he was worth—she was the daughter of a man for the cause of Armenian freedom, and he played upon the girl's feelings—

—which are genuine enough—but in reality he wanted it for himself. It is a rogue and a villain. I have reason to know it."

Once more Mr. Forde broke off. He had resumed his seat by the table and Harold was sitting opposite him. Now and again the sound of voices came from the shop, where a brisk trade seemed to be prosecuted.

It did not seem to Harold as if he really believed that Babette was his daughter. Mr. Forde resumed, "had it not been for my wife's confession, which you are acquainted. A fortune-teller once told me that I should have two daughters, one of whom was this. This was years ago, when Barbara was a tiny child, and of course Marie was not yet married. I was disappointed by the revelation to cheat me as she did. She knew that I was not likely to have children, and she was terribly troubled about it at the time—for Barbara's sake. It had been said, you see, that she would lose both her daughters. When your father, Harold, saved Barbara's life I thought that I could have averted and my gratitude towards her grew greater than I could ever express. Only a sudden change of business took me away from Fleet Street, and I never saw her again. I felt that my debt had never been paid—till you came upon the scene."

PRESERVED ART TREASURE

True to their reputation as lovers of the artistic, we have, during the war of 1870, the German army drew near the French capital, one of the first measures the Parisians took was to save their art treasures of the Louvre in safety. The paintings of Raphael, Titian, Paolo Veronese, Rembrandt and Rubens were carefully packed and shipped to France. There they were stored in the cellars of the Louvre, and taken from the country.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

It was not so easy to save the pieces of marble statuary for their weight and fragility made them difficult to handle, but the French decided to transport them to the island of Malta, at least should not fall into the hands of the Prussians.

So they took them to the island of Malta, and laid her in a casket carefully padded and wrapped. At night the casket was taken through a secret door, and hid secretly in the cellars of the palace, the end of a certain secret passage.

They waited in the casket, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation. In front of this wall they laid a number of the statues, and the statue remained there for years of great age and dilapidation.

THE NATURE OF CLAYS

Probably one of the greatest natural resources of the west, a large supply of clay and shale, suitable for ordinary manufacturing purposes—investigations now going on indicate that clays will be found adapted to the manufacture of more valuable kinds of ceramic goods as well, such as porcelain and china.

Briefly the character of the clays and shales employed for different purposes are as follows:

Fire Clays are always capable of withstanding a high degree of heat. No clay should be called a fire clay unless the fusing temperature is higher than 3000 degrees Fahrenheit. So far very little fire clay has been found in Western Canada. Any clay underlying a coal bed is often called fire clay, but this is decidedly a misuse of the name.

Brick Clays.—The main requirement is an easily mouldable clay and on burning at a low temperature and warping. Common red burning brick are made from low grade clay or shale. To produce a higher grade of material, paving brick are made of plastic, and have good strength and a wide range of temperature between vitrification and fusion. Fireproofing clays should also be plastic and have a high temperature of vitrification.

Sever pipes are vitrified and hence the vitrification temperature should be high. A wide range of temperature between vitrification and fusion is required. Good sewer pipes are made in Alberta.

Terra Cotta clays are of many kinds but are all similar in clay. They are usually buff burning.

Stone-ware clays are also generally refractory and must burn to a dense buff color.

Concentrated shales or clays must be of good composition as to give a proper burning mix with limestone or marl. They should be free from grit.

Was A Brave Russian Woman

Cossack Girl Rode Fifty Miles For Soldier's Smokes

Remarkable stories of the bravery of women who have gone to the front are coming to hand.

One of the most famous has been the part played by her women in wars, and the present campaign has proved no exception to the rule.

One, a Cossack girl, went as a trooper with the full knowledge and permission of the immediate authorities. She was named as the Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

A colonel's daughter, Tomiloffskaya, by name, distinguished herself on the front in the Caucasus. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks. She was a Cossack girl, and she belongs to the Kuban Cossacks.

The Coleman Bulletin

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY AT THE OFFICE OF
THE BULLETIN, SECOND STREET,
COLEMAN, ALBERTA.

SUBSCRIPTION—To any part of Canada $1.50 per year; to points outside the Dominion $2.00 per year. All subscriptions payable in advance. Any person wishing to discontinue their subscription must pay all arrears before their name will be removed from our lists.

ADVERTISING—Legal Notices and Municipal Advertising 12c. per line for first insertion and 10c. per line for each subsequent insertion; 12 lines to the inch. Business Letters 10c. per cent line. Display Advertising Rates on application. Copy for changes or alterations of display advertisements must reach this office not later than Tuesday noon of each week, and any such copy arriving after that hour will be held over till the following week.

JOB PRINTING—Our equipment is thoroughly modern and up-to-date and our prices are lower than those charged in any other town in The Crow's Nest Pass.

R. L. Norman, Editor and Proprietor

COLEMAN, ALTA., THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1915

Major John Herron Says Dominion Election Likely

John Herron, of Pincher Creek, Conservative nominee to contest this riding in the next Dominion election, was in town for a short time on Thursday and favored The Bulletin with a call. Mr. Herron has just returned from Ottawa, where he has been for the past three weeks or so.

Speaking to The Bulletin, Mr. Herron referred to the grievance of the stockmen of the south country, brought about by the driving overland of large bands of sheep from the prairies to the forest reserve in the foothills, and stated that he had secured a promise from the minister at Ottawa to the effect that if the sheepmen did not ship by rail in future the privilege of grazing in the foothills would be denied them.

He also was active in the effort to secure seed grain assistance for those who needed it, and was glad to be able to state that some of this grain was now arriving at his home town (Pincher Creek) by the carload. Mr. Herron also took up with Messrs. Rogers and Roche the question of the use by the railways of American coal in the West, while hundreds of miners in the Crow's Nest Pass were out of employment because there was no market for the Canadian coal. Mr. Herron informed The Bulletin that he had pointed out to the above ministers that there was about fifteen per cent. of the known coal supply of the world here in The Pass, and that it seemed rather strange that the transportation companies should import so much coal while Canadian miners starved.

He had been advised to interview the C. P. R. authorities at Winnipeg on his way home about this matter. He had done so, and as a result of that interview was able to state that there would be no American coal used by that road further west than Brandon after a few months.

Asked as to the possibility of an early election, Mr. Herron said that there was a good deal of election talk indulged in by members on both sides of the House at Ottawa, but that the members of the Cabinet refused to discuss the matter. Personally, he believed an election would take place in the near future, but was not prepared to hazard a guess as to just how soon it might be.

Court of Revision

The council sat as a court of revision on Friday of last week, and heard several appeals against the 1915 assessment. In the majority of cases the assessment was allowed to stand as fixed by the assessor, while in a few other cases the hearing was postponed until Friday of this week.

The appeals which were filed are as follows:

J. McDicken—Not allowed.
J. Nash—Not allowed.
J. Lonsbury—Not allowed.
M. McDickens—Not allowed.
Wm. Evans—Appeal affecting five lots. Not allowed on three lots; other two to be heard at next sitting of court.

Mrs. Evans—Not allowed.
Ed. Eucott—Not allowed.
P. Burns & Co.—Not allowed.
J. C. Warburton—Postponed till next sitting.
G. H. McKay (Majestic Realty Co., Calgary)—Postponed till next sitting.

Jas. Chalmers—Not allowed.
A. E. Knowles—Two lots in Bush Town and one on Main street. Former postponed till next sitting. Main street lot not allowed.

Head Syndicate—Claim property not assessable, and assessment too high. Postponed till next sitting.

International Coal & Coke Co.—Not assessable on depleted acreage nor on acreage not underlaid with coal; also on one lot used as road to cemetery. Latter appeal allowed; other held over till next sitting.
Hudson's Bay Co.—Error in acreage; assessment excessive. Held over till next sitting.

N. Drain—Not allowed.
Drain and Roach—Held over till next meeting.

Mrs. A. G. Trolle—Not allowed.
A. Bunsmerre—Did not appear at court.

Constant-Dau—Did not appear at court.

The council will sit again tomorrow (Friday) in the council chamber as a court of revision to deal with the cases that have been held over. It is expected that agents will appear for the large appeals of the various companies mentioned.

"The March to the Battlefields; or, Canada's Men on the Way," is the title given a picture that will for many years to come be a highly prized treasure. It is a photographic reproduction showing the 32,000 men of Canada's first contingent breaking camp and on the march to join the Continental forces. It shows miles and miles of the white tents and the marching men. It is a most inspiring sight. The size is 20x46 inches, all ready for framing. This picture is sure to be a popular souvenir of the war as far as Canada is concerned, and will be in great demand. It is owned by The Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, and a copy is being presented to all subscribers to that great national weekly newspaper, The Family Herald, Montreal, whose subscription of one dollar a year is received from this date for a limited period.

YOU

can get any number of useful and necessary articles at A. E. Knowles' Hardware Store at a fraction of what you would have to pay elsewhere.

Plante & Antel

LIVERY, FEED AND SALE STABLE

Drying of every description attended to with promptness.
Good rigs and careful drivers for commercial and pleasure trade.
Charges moderate. Phone 188.

H. HOWES ROBERTS

Barrister

CAMERON BLOCK - COLEMAN

Fire, Life, Accident and Liability Insurance

Electric Restorer for Men
Phosphono restores every nerve in the body to its proper function, restores vision and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual ailments cured at once. Phosphono will make you a new man. Price 25c. per box, on two for $1.00. Made in my laboratory. The Newbold Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

The Key to the Situation

If you are looking for a situation a Classified Want Ad. is the key which will unlock the door to the private office of the business man. He is too busy to interview all prospective suitors, but you can catch his attention and secure an appointment by a "Situation Wanted" ad.

Copyright 1914 by R. L. Norman

Who Will Find the First Crocus?

¶ This affords a pleasant competition among the children (and the grown-ups, too) every spring, and it invariably happens that the child who gets out on the hills and explores the valleys in the most thorough and pains-taking manner is the one who finds the dainty flower. In other words, the most enterprising youngster gets the prize.

¶ And so it is in other walks of life. So it is, for example, in the commercial world. The man who gets out and looks for business usually finds it—but he has to go after it.

¶ The Crocus will not come to the child, he must go where the flower is and get it.

¶ The merchant who remains in his store, and makes no bid for business except what he is able to do within his own premises, seldom "gets by" when hard times hits him. One way of "going after" business is by using our well printed and attractive posters. Note what the largest sales agency in Calgary says about them. The following letter was sent us last summer, after the company had concluded a most successful sale in Coleman for Cecil Gower:

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 3rd, 1914.

L. Norman, Esq.,

Editor Coleman Bulletin,

Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Sir: We wish to express our appreciation of the services you rendered in our advertising for Mr. Cecil Gower, of your town. The manner in which you set up copy cannot be excelled, in fact our advertising was, if anything, put out in better shape than many of the large city printing houses serve us.

Again thanking you for your valuable co-operation in this line. We remain, yours truly,

THE EVELY SALES CO.

The Coleman Bulletin

R. L. NORMAN, Proprietor

MASTER MECHANIC UNION MADE OVERALLS THE BEST OF THE HIGH GRADES

Made in the West for the needs of the West.

Every garment a winner. You can't buy better.

Give them a trial;
we back them
with a money-back guarantee.

Look for the snug fitting cinder-
proof collars.

EVERY GARMENT
GUARANTEED

Sold by

C. GOWER
COLEMAN, ALTA.

WESTERN KING MANUFACTURING CO.
WINNIPEG

Council Meeting Was Not Very Exciting

(Continued from first page)

Furniture	50.00
Supplies	450.00
Fuel	350.00
Insurance	500.00
Debtors	2315.00
Interest	100.00
All other purposes	400.00

Total $12,057.00

The following note was appended to the estimates: "The board requests the raising of the sum of $12,000.00 by taxation to meet the year's expenditure, and purposes to utilize the Government grant as a reserve fund." The board also asked the council to have the work of the triunity officer done at the expense of the town instead of the board as it is at present, but no action in this connection was taken by the aldermen.

Mayor Morrison advised the filing of these estimates as there did not seem to be anything else for the council to do in the matter. Alderman Lamb wanted to refer them back to the school board, but was out-voted in the matter.

In order that the ratepayers may see just how the reduction has been made in the school estimates, the budget previously submitted to the council by the school board is printed below:

Principal's salary	$1500.00
Janitor	1020.00
(and free house rent in addition)
Assistant principal	900.00
One teacher at	800.00
Three teachers at $850	2400.00
One teacher at	800.00
Three teachers at $780	2340.00
One teacher	312.00
Secretary and treasurer	120.00
Truant officer	100.00
Fuel	350.00
Insurance	500.00
Debtors	2315.00
School repairing account	600.00
Grounds	500.00
Furniture	300.00
Supplies	450.00
Interest	100.00
Technical classes	100.00
All other purposes	500.00

Government's Patriotism And Production Plan

(Continued from page 1)

that the Coleman School District is hard up for two reasons, viz., the non-payment of taxes, and the fact that so much of the land included in the district is held by the Crown—AS A FOREST RESERVE.

Take the first cause mentioned: The McLaren Lumber Company and the Head Syndicate are the greatest offenders. The former holds a large tract of land in this school district under "Timber Leases." From much of this land the timber was removed years ago, but the company still holds the land, and we know of specific cases where more than a dozen people have tried to homestead parts of this land—but the twenty-year-old timber leases were in the way. If this land, which is of no further use from the point of view of getting timber off it, was thrown open for settlement it would be taken up pronto. There is no doubt of that. And if it was settled it would at once bring revenue to the school district.

Again, the 1914 auditors' report of the town of Coleman shows that while the lumber company has been assessed for this land, they have never yet paid a nickel, and at the present moment, according to the auditors, their arrears total the rather large sum of $1,771.00. It is questionable whether the town can assess a timber lease, but still it has been decided by Judge McNeill that we can assess coal rights (See Head Syndicate vs. Town of Coleman) and it is reasonable to suppose that the timber leases would come under the same judgment. But the company does not pay and the town cannot afford to risk expensive law suits. So we just jog along as best we can—from hand to mouth.

And as to the "Forest reserve": Every man who reads these lines, and who knows anything of the country hereabouts, knows that in fixing the boundaries of this reserve a serious handicap has been placed on the towns of The Pass. Whoever located those boundaries evidently accepted unquestioningly the old superstition that there was nothing but coal in The Pass, and gave little or no attention to the agricultural possibilities of the district.

"Buy Made-in-Canada" goods only says the Manufacturers' Association. Buy "Made-in-Canada" goods only says the wholesaler and retailer. Buy "Made-in-Canada" goods only says the Dominion Government—and all the while we are surrounded by a forest reserve and a whole map full of antiquated timber leases which create those very conditions that compel Albertans to eat eggs from China, mutton from New Zealand—and canned milk from the Lord-knows-where.

And in the meantime, and because of that forest reserve and those timber leases, our school board is sitting up nights trying to devise ways and means of financing our school so that our children may become educated—may become good citizens instead of uneducated flotsam from which criminals are made. Just now no one knows whether the school will remain open for the balance of the year or not—BUT ALL OF US KNOW THAT IF ALL THE SUITABLE LAND INSIDE OUR SCHOOL DISTRICT WAS OPENED TO SETTLERS AND THEREBY RENDERED ASSESSABLE THE FINANCING OF THE SCHOOL WOULD BE NO PROBLEM AT ALL.

The Bulletin does not believe that a public meeting to discuss school matters in general would do much good, but we certainly are strongly of the opinion that a public meeting called to discuss the above phase of the school problem, followed up by a proper presentation of our case to the powers that be at Ottawa, would result very much to the advantage of the school district.

Think it over!

Job Printing At The Bulletin Office

ALEX. M. MORRISON
NOTARY PUBLIC

REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE

Reg. Births, Marriages, Deaths
Office in Rex Theatre Coleman

WE WANT NOW A GOOD SALESMAN

For every district in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—where we are not represented.

We offer a splendid list of hardy varieties tested by the Western Experimental Station.

Hybrid Crab Apples, Compass Cherries, Chickasaw Plums, Small Fruits, Seed Potatoes, Seedlings for Windbreaks and shelter belts.

HIGHEST COMMISSIONS PAID
HANDSOME FREE OUTFIT
EXCLUSIVE TERRITORY

Write for Terms

STONE & WELLINGTON

Foot Hill Nurseries—TORONTO ONTARIO

R. W. Johnston

LUMBER
Dealer and Contractor

Dealer in Lumber, Sash
Doors, Shingles, Lath
Cement and Plaster, etc.

Wall Board and Beaver
Board always in stock.

Coleman Alberta

The Coleman Liquor Co.

French Clarets

and

Italian Liquors

A SPECIALTY.

Wholesale Liquors, Cigars & Tobaccos

Phone 59 Ring 3

Agent for CALGARY BREWING CO.

You can add greatly to your enjoyment of the long winter evenings by securing a supply of reading matter here. We have several of the latest books as well as a large stock of the cheaper books

H. C. McBURNEY - Druggist

PHONE 44

SUNDAY HOURS—2.00 to 3.00 p.m.

T. W. DAVIES

Funeral Director and Embalmer

Headstones Supplied and Set up
COLEMAN Residence Phone 143 ALBERTA

ASK FOR
FIVE ROSES FLOUR

The World's Best

Send for Five Roses
Cook Book—

COUPON
Write Name and Address plainly.
Don't forget to enclose Ten Cents in return.
NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
NAME OF DEALER _____

Address your Envelope to LAKE OF THE WOODS MILLING CO. LIMITED, WINNIPEG

DISTRIBUTORS W. L. GUINETTE S. JANOSTAK COLEMAN, ALTA.

Western Canadian Co-Operative Trading Co., Ltd.

Firebox linings withstand years of use because made of McClary Semi-Steel. See a

McClary's
Kootenay
Range You'll notice the linings are made in nine pieces. There's a good reason—ask the McClary dealer.

McGILLIVRAY CREEK

Coal & Coke Co. Ltd

Mine and General Offices:

COLEMAN, ALBERTA

Registry Office

Head Office

Spokane - Wash. Rossland - B.C.

OWNS AND OPERATES

Carbondale Mine

WHICH PRODUCES AN

Exceptionally High Grade

OF

STEAM COAL

The International Coal and Coke Company, Ltd.

Operates the Denison Collieries at

COLEMAN, ALTA.

Mines High-Grade Steam and Coking Coal.
Manufacturers of the Best Coke on the Market

MAKE MONEY EASY

If you would do so, invest in Town Lots in the Most Substantially Founded and Best Business Community in the Crows Nest Pass.

That Place is Coleman

Write to or Apply at the Head Office of

The INTERNATIONAL COAL & COKE CO., Ltd.
COLEMAN, ALBERTA

Grand Union Hotel

Coleman, Alta.

BEST OF ACCOMMODATION
We Cater to the Working Man's Trade

G. A. CLAIR

Proprietor

FERNIE MOUNTAIN

SUPPLY COMPANY
Limited

Dealers in WINES,
LIQUORS and Cigars

We handle the Fernie
Beer and Soft Drinks

FRANK

ALBERTA

Local News Items

Saturday is pay day.

The Miner's Hospital was reported without patients last week.

H. G. Goodeve made a business trip down The Pass this week.

Rev. James Lang, of Passburg, spent Tuesday in town visiting with friends.

For sale—Eggs for hatching. White Leghorn. 13 for $1.00. W. Gower, Coleman. 10

Privates Leitch and McLean of the 13th Mounted Rifles were visitors over the week-end.

A fresh coat of paint has greatly improved the appearance of Dr. Ross' office on Second street.

It is rumored that a new pool hall and roller rink will be erected in Coleman in the near future.

Manager Barnes of the McLaren Lumber Co., who has been in the East for a few months, is expected at the mill this week.

The address on Indian missions given in St. Alban's institute on Tuesday evening by Mrs. Sidney Houlton, of Calgary, was greatly appreciated by those who attended.

The new road to West Coleman is being well patronized. A better road to the cemetery is another job on which a little money and labor might profitably be spent.

Rev. Muncester, of Blairmore, preaches his farewell sermon on Sunday next. Mr. Muncester is very highly esteemed by a large circle of friends who will regret his departure very much.

Lost—On the morning of Tuesday, March 16th, on the new road to West Coleman, while at fire practice, a Burlington Special Watch. Would finder kindly return same to Wm. Brown, room 1, fire hall. 13th.

Frank Graham is in Crawford Bay, B. C., at present getting his land ready for a potato crop. Frank evidently has got the "Back-to-the-land bug," or is it just spring fever? However, pulling stumps is a pretty good remedy for either of these.

On Tuesday the fire brigade stretched all the hose which the department owns along the new road to West Coleman to ascertain just what protection can now be given the property in that section of the town. They were able to reach the corner opposite Mrs. Griesack's residence, near where the new electric alarm box has been installed. If arrangements can be made to connect the town hose onto the hydrant in the International Coal and Coke Co.'s yard it is believed a line of hose can now be laid as far west as Steveluk's store.

A letter signed "Economist" was received at The Bulletin office this week for publication, but we have not printed it for the reason that the writer has not confined himself to a discussion of school matters, but has instead wandered into a rather scathing criticism of a member of the school board. The official actions of any member of the school board may at times call for discussion or criticism, but neither "Economist" nor anyone else has a right to censure a trustee for actions that cannot even by the most fertile imagination be construed as official—or anything like it.

One Thousand Lost

Tragic Story of Empress of Ireland
Best written, fully illustrated, most attractive book ever offered subscribers for $1.00 retail. Liberal commissions. Agents wanted. Outfit free. Send 10 cents to cover cost of mailing. Quick deliveries. Rush. Home Publishing House, Box 94, St. John's, N.B.

We Sell for Cash Only

But our stock of Groceries is cut down to rock bottom prices. We have reduced our working expenses so that we may be able to sell goods at a great reduction in price.

Some things we offer for this week

Five lb. tin Pure Raspberry Jam ..... 80c none better. We handle the best brand of Canned Goods in The Pass.
VEGETABLES—Corn, Peas, Beans, 10 tins for ..... 1.00
We are going to retail 500 lbs. of the Best Flour so all can share a little in this valuable deal. 8 lbs. for ..... 25c
Can you beat it?
Baking powder—5 lb. tin ..... 90c
1 lb. tin ..... 20c
12 oz. tin ..... 15c
8 oz. tin ..... 10c
And we guarantee every tin we sell.
Our whole Roast Coffee is the best money can buy. Regular 45c and 50c, now 2 lbs. for ..... 45c
We grind it for you.
Strictly Fresh Eggs, per doz. .... 30c

All we ask of the good people of Coleman is to try us once as we know they will not forget the good bargains they get at this store.

J. A. Grenier -:- Coleman

Morgan-Knox Co., Limited

BANKERS and BROKERS

Seventh Ave. and Centre St., — CALGARY, ALTA.

Announce the Opening of Their Thoroughly Equipped Brokerage Offices

Specialists in High Grade Oil Stocks. All orders handled with promptness and despatch. Orders to buy and sell any Stock listed on Calgary Oil & Stock Exchange will be executed with great care and attention. Special attention given out-of-town orders. All buying orders must be accompanied with at least one-third of the amount to be paid. Selling orders must be accompanied with the Certificate transferred in blank.

We Specialize in Odd Lots of Shares, and can Fill Odd Lot Orders.

Money advanced regular clients on good listed stocks.
OIL LEASES BOUGHT AND SOLD
Send us your name for our Free Weekly Market Letter.
Respectfully,

Morgan-Knox Co., Limited

BANKERS and BROKER

Members Calgary Oil and Stock Exchange

Seventh Ave. and Centre St., — CALGARY, ALTA.

WE FIND NO FAULT

With the Statement that "Bread is the Staff of Life," but we still maintain that meat—that is first quality meat—occupies a very prominent place in the modern bill of fare. And if Your meat comes from Lowden's it is sure to be First Quality. More than that, we are selling at prices that cannot be beaten.

Come and see.

The V. H. LOWDEN CO.,

THOSE WHO TOIL EARNESTLY AND WITH SUCCESS WILL BE SATISFIED ONLY WITH THE BEST OVER-HAUL THAT CAN BE MANUFACTURED.

LEATHER LABEL OVER-HAULS

ARE HIGH GRADE, HONEST MADE AND THE BEST

AMERICAN STYLE WORK CLOTHES.

THEY ARE DOUBLE STITCHED THROUGHOUT, BIG AND GENEROUS (IT TAKES FROM 42 TO 44 YARDS TO MAKE A SUIT), HAVE SEVEN POCKETS, IMPROVED COLLARS AND CUFFS, THAT HOSE COME OFF, ELASTIC DETACHABLE SUSPENDERS, ETC.

LOOK FOR THE TAN COLORED TRADE MARK ON YOUR OVERHAULS. THE LEATHER LABEL. WE ARE THE AGENTS FOR LEATHER LABEL OVERHAULS.

WALL PAPERS

After our annual stock-taking we find a number of odd lines which we are now selling at prices which will not prevent anyone from purchasing.

Our New Spring Stock Has Arrived and is now open for inspection

KYANIZE

Don't overlook this most essential article in your spring housecleaning.

It has stood the test of time. Carried in stock in eight different shades.

Kyanize

WHITE ENAMEL works just as well right over old paint as it does on new work. Use it for bathroom walls and fixtures, for parlor and dining-room work, for iron beds, picture frames, chairs and tables. It flows so nicely you can put it on yourself and do a good job without showing laps. It dries pure white and stays white. Will not crack, chip or peel off.

We refund your money for empty can if Kyanize does not do all we claim

H. G. Goodeve Co., Limited

IF YOU ARE SATISFIED—TELL OTHERS

IF YOU ARE NOT SATISFIED—TELL US

The Sensible Thing

to do when times are hard is to make every dollar go just as far as you possibly can. A penny saved is a penny made, and if your Earning Capacity has been curtailed, then you must of necessity increase the Purchasing Power of your dollars. That is where

This Store Renders "First Aid" to the Economist.

At any time our regular prices are just as low, if not a bit lower, than you can get anywhere else, but on Pay Day we are going to again give a Special Discount of 25 Per Cent. off all our Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots and Shoes, etc. This means that 75c. will go as far here as One Dollar will elsewhere. Or in other words, we are increasing the Purchasing Power of Your Dollars to such an extent that $3.00 will now do the work of $4.00.

In your own best interests therefore you should come straight to this store as soon as you cash your Pay Cheque.

The Western Canadian Co-Operative Trading Company, Limited